

CORRESPONDENCE: Letter to Editor

IN REMEMBRANCE

To
The Editor, JPMER

Sir,
In the 1980s when I was a little girl, my grandmother called me near her and told me her last wishes, "After I go, please donate my eyes to someone and donate my body to the Anatomy

Visiting Lecturer

Department of Physiology, Pt. Deendayal Upadhyaya Institute for the Physically Handicapped, New Delhi, India

Corresponding Author: Puneet Kaur, Visiting Lecturer
Department of Physiology, Pt. Deendayal Upadhyaya Institute for the Physically Handicapped, New Delhi, India, Phone: +911123236771, e-mail: kaurpuneet.ac@gmail.com

Museum, Rohtak Medical College. So many of my children and grandchildren have become doctors and I want to give something back to the society."

She fell ill and passed away to her heavenly abode. Her death shook my soul, and I could not verbalize what her last wishes were.

Years had elapsed but I could not go back in time to fulfil her last wishes, but I continued to spread her thoughts about organ donation and body donation.

A couple of years back, I lost my grandfather-in-law. He donated his body to PGIMER, Chandigarh.

Strange are the ways of fate!

I felt as if my in-laws had fulfilled my unsaid need of honoring my grandmother's last wishes.

PGIMER gave our family a plant which is even today growing strong and reflects the great ideals of our society. We thank PGIMER for fulfilling our hopes and dreams.

Puneet Kaur